

Date submitted (Mountain Standard Time): 8/7/2019 12:00:00 AM

First name: Elaine

Last name: Gilmartin

Organization:

Title:

Comments:

We MUST do an EIS for the Santa Fe Mountains Landscape Resiliency Project and make sure analysis is site specific.

It's our right, please, no matter what your position is on thinning and burning in our forest, help make sure it's done right.

"This is clearly consistent with the Trump administration's desire to reduce government and to cut the public out of the process of managing a public asset," said Susan Jane Brown, an attorney for advocacy group Western Environmental Law Center, as The Washington Post reported.

"To try to draw a line between climate change-induced wildfire and the need to cut the public out of the process of wildland management is disingenuous."

The Balance of Life in New Mexico is affected by your actions. Thank you for working on this.

From: Melonas, James -FS
To: Bergemann, Hannah - FS
Subject: Fwd: EIS for the Santa Fe Mountains Landscape Resiliency Project
Date: Sunday, June 16, 2019 11:45:59 AM

James E. Melonas
Forest Supervisor
Forest Service
Santa Fe National Forest

p: 505-438-5312
f: 505-438-5391
james.melonas@usda.gov

11 Forest Ln
Santa Fe, NM 87508
www.fs.fed.us

From: Elaine Gilmartin <eaglemartin89@hotmail.com>
Sent: Sunday, June 16, 2019 11:14:58 AM
To: Melonas, JamesFS jmelonas@fs.fed.us; JamesFS jmelonas@fs.fed.us
Subject: EIS for the Santa Fe Mountains Landscape Resiliency Project

We MUST do an EIS for the Santa Fe Mountains Landscape Resiliency Project and make sure analysis is site specific.

It's our right, please, no matter what your position is on thinning and burning in our forest, help make sure it's done right.

"This is clearly consistent with the Trump administration's desire to reduce government and to cut the public out of the process of managing a public asset," said Susan Jane Brown, an attorney for advocacy group Western Environmental Law Center, as The Washington Post reported.

"To try to draw a line between climate change-induced wildfire and the need to cut the public out of the process of wildland management is disingenuous."

The Balance of Life in New Mexico is affected by your actions. Thank you for working on this.

Elaine Gilmartin, Resident

Sent from Outlook